

I have been associated with the home sattellite business since 1980 and I do not think the proposed sale is in the public interest.VOOM has chosen to serve an emerging market (HDTV) thru sattellite home delivery. I am against any thing that could remove them from the market place